Receipt of Medium Rescue Certification

What is it?

Through the State of North Carolina, NC Association of Rescue and EMS, the medium rescue certification is defined as basic and some advanced rescue, basic and advanced extrication, and basic life support functions as an initial responder with minimum advanced equipment and skills.

Through the certification process, the fire department is required to show/prove a certain number of personnel holding ERT, RT-VMR, or TR-VMR. (Rescue Certifications) Also checked is certain rescue equipment on the apparatus.

You can scan the QR code below to see what certifications and equipment are needed for the medium rescue certification.
